

Jade Parrish-Marks is a commercial real estate professional, serving as an Associate for CBRE's Occupier business. Additionally, she serves as Vice President of Parrish Charitable Foundation and Advisor for Parrish Properties.

Jade received her B.S. in Organizational Leadership from Purdue University in 2012. Upon graduation she began an 8 year career as a Strategic HR Business Partner for global companies like Amazon and Fossil. In 2022, she completed her M.B.A from SMU's Cox School of Business where she concentrated in Commercial Real Estate & Entrepreneurship. As a Forté Fellow at SMU, Jade was an active member of the Real Estate Club, Women in Business and the Black Graduate Student Association.

Jade is passionate about the power of relationships and aspires to build generational wealth. Her hobbies include taking dance classes, teaching dance and traveling. She is newly-wed to husband Jordan Marks and a proud member Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated.