

Jessica Armstead is a senior at the University of North Texas at Dallas majoring in Child Development and Family Studies and a minor in Business Management. Upon completing her degrees she will open nonprofit after-school programs and group homes for children in the foster care system. She serves as the moderator of the Embrace the Space-A Call to Action session.